

The poster features a central graphic of a globe divided into nine colored segments, each containing a white icon related to health and nutrition: a person with a checkmark, a bowl of food, a person exercising, a syringe, a heart with a checkmark, a plate with cutlery, a brain, an apple with a heart, and a person lifting weights. The globe is surrounded by various fruits and vegetables. A red diagonal banner at the top right reads 'Call for Entries'. In the top left, the logos for SEAMEO and MEXT (Ministry of Education, Culture, Sports, Science and Technology-Japan) are displayed. The text 'SEAMEO-Japan ESD Award' is prominently shown in green. Below this, the theme for 2017 is stated as 'Improving Health and Nutrition', and the submission deadline is '5 September 2017'.

I. Introduction

In 2002, the United Nations General Assembly adopted Resolution 57/254 and declared the period 2005-2014 as the “United Nations Decade of Education for Sustainable Development” (DESD).

In its declaration, the United Nations General Assembly defined ESD (Education for Sustainable Development) as a “learning process (or approach to teaching) based on the ideals and principles that underlie sustainability and is concerned with all levels and types of learning to provide quality education and foster sustainable human development – learning to know, learning to be, learning to live together, learning to do and learning to transform oneself and society.”

At the end of the DESD in 2014, the UNESCO World Conference held in Japan announced the Global Action Programme (GAP) on ESD aimed at generating and scaling up ESD actions at all levels and in all areas of education, training and learning to accelerate progress towards sustainable development to the post-2015 agenda.

While ESD is implemented worldwide under the GAP, in support of further promoting ESD in Southeast Asia, the Southeast Asian Ministers of Education Organization (SEAMEO), and the Ministry of Education, Culture, Sports, Science and Technology, Japan (MEXT), in cooperation with the UNESCO Asia and Pacific Regional Bureau for Education, have shown their collective commitment to promoting best practices in ESD in schools across Southeast Asia by organising the SEAMEO-Japan Education for Sustainable Development (ESD) Award. The award scheme has been held annually since 2012.

The objectives of the SEAMEO-Japan ESD Award are:

1. To raise awareness of ESD in schools and communities across Southeast Asia;
2. To promote ESD best practices in schools and communities across Southeast Asia;
3. To share and exchange knowledge and best practices on ESD in schools across Southeast Asia and Japan;
4. To encourage networking among schools and communities which implement ESD practices in Southeast Asian countries and Japan.

The first awards scheme in 2012 was conducted under the theme of: “Education for Disaster Risk Reduction”. This initial competition attracted entries from 69 schools in Indonesia, Lao PDR, Malaysia, Myanmar, Philippines, Thailand and Vietnam.

The award in 2013 was conducted under the theme of “Values Education” and attracted entries from 126 schools in eight Southeast Asian countries, namely, Brunei Darussalam, Indonesia, Lao PDR, Malaysia, Myanmar, Philippines, Thailand and Vietnam.

The award in 2014, under the theme of “Fostering Global Citizenship for Sustainable Future”, involved 63 schools in nine Southeast Asian countries, namely Brunei Darussalam, Indonesia, Lao PDR, Malaysia, Myanmar, Philippines, Singapore, Thailand and Vietnam.

The award in 2015, under the theme of “Safeguarding our Cultural Traditions”, participated by 90 schools in ten Southeast Asian countries, namely Brunei Darussalam, Cambodia, Indonesia, Lao PDR, Malaysia, Myanmar, Philippines, Singapore, Thailand, and Vietnam.

The award in 2016 was conducted under the theme of “Saving Energy”, involved 43 entries in eight Southeast Asian countries, namely, Brunei Darussalam, Indonesia, Lao PDR, Malaysia, Myanmar, Philippines, Singapore, and Thailand.

II. Theme for 2017: “Improving Health and Nutrition”

Large numbers of school children in Southeast Asia suffer from ailments such as diarrhea, acute respiratory diseases, worms and dental caries, all of which are preventable and caused mainly by poor hygiene. These illnesses seriously impair a student’s physical and cognitive development and have a negative impact on their ability to learn and their prospects*.

To promote Education for Sustainable Development in schooling system, “Health and Nutrition” is one of the most important issues and concerns of policy makers and educational leaders in Southeast Asian countries.

Considering the importance of “Health and Nutrition” at the school level in Southeast Asia, the theme of SEAMEO-Japan ESD Award in 2017 is “Improving Health and Nutrition”

“Improving Health and Nutrition” can refer to any action or programme that transform schools into healthy learning environments where routine hygiene practices turn into long-term habits. This also includes the school programmes/activities to prevent local diseases and improve health condition, lunch programme, water and sanitation, and overall nutrition of students, as well as increase nutrition awareness and health preventive education of parents and community.

The objectives of this year’s award scheme are:

1. To raise awareness on “Health and Nutrition Programme” integrated in education for the promotion of sustainable development in schools and communities in Southeast Asia and Japan.
2. To promote and share initiatives and good practices that support sustainable development through the improvement of health and nutrition into school plan, teaching and learning practices, and daily routines of students.
3. To encourage schools to develop and improve current ESD practices in school activities and programmes.

Under the theme of “Improving Health and Nutrition,” the school entry should cover the following criteria:

1. The entry should be relevant to the theme and the scope of “Improving Health and Nutrition” as defined above.
2. The entry should demonstrate how the school’s programme can improve health and nutrition conditions of students; transform the school into the healthy learning environments; and promote sustainable healthy habits of students, parents and community.
3. The entry should clearly demonstrate the integration of “Improving Health and Nutrition” practices in the entire school’s policy, management plan, participatory planning and implementation, curriculum, teaching and learning practices, daily routines of students, student activities, partnership efforts, parent and community participation, and so on.

A representative of the winning schools will be sponsored to participate at the award presentation ceremony which will be held at the SEAMEO High Officials Meeting in Bangkok in November 2017.

All participating schools that have submitted entries relevant to the theme will be recognised (name, project name and country) on the SEAMEO website and the winning schools’ details will also be posted on the SEAMEO website. (www.seameo.org)

V. Judging criteria

The judging committee will consider the following criteria in selecting the winning schools:

1. Strategy/ Modality of Implementation

- Health promotion and nutrition programme is emphasized and incorporated into school policies, management plans, and teaching and learning programmes within the school.
- The school has demonstrated the use of participatory processes – involving students, teachers, parents, community stakeholders and partners – in planning and implementing the programme.
- Appropriate and effective methods and resources are used to implement the programme.
- Monitoring and evaluation mechanisms or processes are systematically identified to the immediate and long-term outcomes of the programme.
- The school has demonstrated that the entire school joins together in improving health and nutrition condition of students.

2. Innovation and Creativity

- The school's programme has demonstrated innovative and simple practices in "Improving Health and Nutrition".
- The school has demonstrated innovative ideas for utilizing available resources.
- The entry is a new idea or an improved/adapted version of existing activities.

3. Teaching and Learning Approaches

- The school has demonstrated effective teaching and learning approaches that have developed awareness of students and community in promoting health and nutrition.
- The school has embedded knowledge about health and nutrition and other related environmental aspects into subject disciplines and incorporated ESD principles and pedagogical methods to ensure that students are able to connect the practices into their daily life and family.

4. Engagement of Community

- The school has engaged community partners such as neighbouring educational institutions, local government authorities and parent associations to co-implement the school's programme.
- The school's programme has encouraged public awareness and action for promoting health and nutrition for the community.
- The school's programme has strengthened student involvement and a contribution to improve the sustainable development of the local community.

5. Sustainability

- The school has demonstrated a clear future plan on how to sustain the programme.
- The school has integrated the promotion of health and nutrition within the school management plan and teaching and learning activities across subjects for a long-term action strategy.

6. Impact

- Results, both during and after implementation, have revealed the effectiveness and benefits of the school's programme to students, teachers, parents and the wider community.
- The school has clearly demonstrated that health and nutrition conditions of students have been improved after the implementation.

Note: Achievement of submitted programmes will be evaluated in accordance with the educational stage of each school (e.g. kindergarten / elementary / secondary / vocational and technical schools)

VI. The judging committee

The Judging Committee consists of experts in the areas of education, education for sustainable development, and health and nutrition from Japan and the Southeast Asian region. The decision of the Judging Committee is final and challenges/appeals are not allowed.
